DEVELOPMENT

LS Central 20.5 released

LS Central is now delivered as two apps. Some code has been moved from the LS Central app to a new app named LS Central System App. The LS Central app has a dependency on the LS Central System App. The code that was moved to the LS Central System App is a code that was originally in the Toolbox .dll and is related to the POS UI. The code in the Toolbox .dll was not public, and partners could not modify the code. The code in the LS Central System app will not be public and the LS Central System App will only be published as runtime package. See announcement.

Breaking changes in LS Central 21.0 - clean-up time!

We want to make you aware of changes that will take effect in the LS Central 21.0 release. The purpose of these changes is to improve the quality of the code and phase out obsolete procedures.

- Obsolete code marked with tag 19.0 and below has been removed
- OnPrem-only procedures are now obsolete
- Autotest object names now have an LSC prefix
- Integration event triggers are now internal/local

For further clarification and to find out which actions you may need to take because of these changes please refer to the announcement, or download this document.

NEWS

Thomas Nielsen - new Regional VP, Americas

We are pleased to announce that Thomas Nielsen will be the new Regional Vice President for the Americas at LS Retail. Thomas was previously a Board Member and Director for Retail at Archerpoint, a Microsoft and LS Retail partner focusing on ERP, supply chain, retail, and cloud technology.

“I look forward to contributing to the growth of the LS Retail business,” says Thomas, “and I especially look forward to strengthening connections with our partners. In the next few weeks, I will be contacting all our partners and setting time to talk to them one on one.”
